I never had anything but problems with Paychex

When I first started my business, I signed up with Paychex, and I never had anything but problems. I was constantly getting notices from the state and the IRS about misfiled forms and missing payments. Paychex would take care of it when I asked them to, but the forms would keep coming.

I eventually lost trust in Paychex, so I decided to sign up with ADP®. But before I switched, Paychex had already collected about $800 in unemployment money that needed to be filed with the state, and they just never submitted it. To this day, I am still getting bills from the state.

With ADP, I've never had a problem

I've been with ADP for at least 10 years now and I've never had a problem. Running payroll with ADP has always been easy. With Paychex, it was all a call-in service. But with ADP, it's all online and it hardly takes any time at all. I just log in, enter the hours and I'm done. I can even go online to download all the forms and tax records. It's all just so easy.

But most important, I've never had any problems with ADP. I've never gotten a notification from the state or the IRS. And isn't that why you use a payroll provider in the first place? I wish I had gone with ADP from the beginning.
